H. S. ENLARGEMENT COST WILL APPROXIMATE $95,000

Board Hears From Three Sources That PWA Allocation Of $77,781 Has Been Made For Project; Pledges That Bonds Will Be Sold Only For Amount Needed

The total cost of improvements contemplated in enlargement of the county high school, on which a bond election will be held July 26, will be approximately $95,000, of which fifty-five per cent will be supplied by the school district, the balance being a federal grant.

This announcement was made Monday following a meeting of the school's governing board Friday evening, at which telegrams from three sources were

Fay Sentenced On 2 Counts

Ordered To San Quentin For Jailbreaking, Burglary In Second Degree

Robert Fay, escaped and recaptured county jail prisoner who had pleaded guilty to jailbreaking, burglary in the second degree and grand theft, was sentenced to San Quentin Prison for the term prescribed by law on two of the charges before Judge George H. Thompson Monday morning.

The charge of grand theft was dismissed on motion of the district attorney who stated that there is a reasonable doubt as to the value of the property involved and that witnesses in the case are gone, moved from the state and their addresses are unknown.

Fay was sentenced for jailbreaking and for burglary in the second degree.

The term for jailbreaking is one to ten years and for burglary one to four years. The court directed that the two sentences may run concurrently.

Fay, who with two others fled the county jail on September 29, 1936, was recaptured recently at St. Louis and returned to this county.

The regular schedule of the Placer-Nevada League rolled to conclusion in games Sunday which saw the Bartletts trim the Roseville Tigers, Folsom take credit for two games from the W. & R. nine, Colfax split a double headed with Loomis and Grass Valley on the short end of a 28 to 5 shellacking from Auburn.

Practically all clubs of the league have postponed games, the Bartletts having three of them, and the first will be put out of the way next Sunday at Loomis. Other games postponed and yet to be played send the Barts against the Wolf & Royer team and Auburn.

Postponed games will keep all other clubs except Grass Valley and Folsom busy Sunday, too, with the W. & R. nine at Auburn and the Tigers at Colfax.

The Bartletts, who hung up their second victory in a row by defeating the Tigers 5 to 2 Sunday, may yet be heard from in the league race for, under the league organization, the clubs finishing in second, third, fourth and fifth place engage in a play-off series, the winner to meet the first place club.

"SNOW WHITE" AND SEVEN DWARFS ARRIVE IN PLACERVILLE BY AIRPLANE

Empire Theater Management Makes Special Arrangement To Keep Faith With Patrons As Mix-Up In Exchange Results In Failure Of Film To Arrive On Schedule

Dr. D. W. Babcock may be checked up on his pilot's license by the Department of Commerce, for he brought his five passenger cabin monoplane in to Placerville airport Sunday afternoon with eleven people aboard. Although the ship is designed for only five passengers, it was found when the ship rolled to a halt at Placerville airport that there were really eleven persons aboard. They were Dr. D. W. Babcock, Tom Smith, Jr., Bob Donnell, and—"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

"Snow White" arrived in Placerville by plane as the result of a mix-up in a San Francisco film exchange which resulted in a delay in opening the Sunday afternoon matinee. The Empire Theater management was at a loss as to what to do until someone suggested that perhaps Dr. Babcock would fly to San Francisco and get the picture and return it here.

"I would have been back a little sooner," Dr. Babcock explained as he climbed from the cabin, "but 'Dopey' was hiding out and we had to wait until he showed up." Theater patrons were sympathetic with the theater management in their difficulties and waited patiently for "Snow White." The Sunday afternoon show was started about 4:15 and an hour later, "Snow White" arrived, thanks to Dr. Babcock.

The picture drew a large audience in front of 25,000 to 30,000 persons assembled in a natural amphitheater to see the sacrifice.

The seven selected warriors marched in front of 25,000 to 30,000 persons assembled in a natural amphitheater to see the sacrifice. The pictures of the sacrifice—in which an Indian brave throws himself into a flaming pit—were taken by Dr. Townsend during an educational survey through Mexico with Dr. Edward E. Pickard.

When Dr. Townsend and his companion reached Mexico, newspapers announced the approaching Aztec sacrifice to the sun—which occurs every 52 years—was to be made in Tehituan, Sonora. The two mentors decided to travel there and take pictures.

According to Dr. Townsend the Aztec Indians believe the sun "wears out" every 52 years and requires the sacrifice of a human being to continue to shine.

PRESIDENT CONTINUES WESTWARD TRIP THROUGH TEXAS

FORT WORTH, Tex., (UP)—President Roosevelt, refreshed by a week end of rest at the ranch home of his son Elliott, today resumed his transcontinental speaking tour in the interests of a "forward looking" candidates with a major speech at Amarillo, Tex. At Amarillo, observers expect Mr. Roosevelt to speak a kindly word for Rep. Marvin Jones, chairman of the house agriculture committee, who faces strong opposition in the July 23 primary election.

From Amarillo, the president will go to Pueblo, Colo.

County's Outdoor Gial On Radio Tuesday

Dorothy Morris, El Dorado County's Outdoor Girl for the year, will be heard with other entries for the honor of being California's Outdoor Girl, on radio station KPO, San Francisco, between 2:30 and 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Dorothy leaves this evening with her mother, Mrs. M. D. Morris, for San Francisco, to take part in the broadcast and share in the other special events arranged by the Salinas rodeo, under whose auspices California's Outdoor Girl will be chosen from among the entries from the various counties at the Salinas rodeo, July 14 to 17th.

HUGHES LANDS AT PARIS

Spans Atlantic Non-Stop In Less Than Half Time Set By Lindbergh In 1927

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

United Press Staff Correspondent LE BOURGET AIRPORT, France, (UP)—Howard Hughes, American sportsman-aviator, landed his big two engined "scientific" plane on Le Bourget field today, the second time in history that the flight across the Atlantic to this airport has been made non-stop.

Hughes made the trip in the phenomenal time of 16 hours and 38 minutes, at an average speed of 218 miles an hour.

He more than cut in half the time of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who made the first and only solo flight from New York to Paris in 1927.

Lindbergh did it in 33½ hours, flying a single engined Ryan monoplane.

The Hughes plane, which probably will continue eastward on an around the world flight back to New York, left New York at 7:20 p. m. EDT Sunday and arrived here at 11:51 a. m. EDT, of 4:58 p. m. Paris time.

Hughes was five hours ahead of the schedule he had set. He came through bad weather over the Atlantic and the eastern coast of Europe, flying by radio beam through rain and low hanging clouds.

However, he had favorable winds after leaving midocean and sped directly from the Irish coast to France via Cherbourg. He was not sighted from the ground after crossing the coast until the big plane appeared over this field just outside Paris.

Hughes hoped to take off for Moscow before dark on his trip around the world. He ordered the oil emptied and renewed, because he experienced some oil pump trouble in midocean.

Road Group To Voice Needs

Mother Lode Unit To Meet Highway Commission On Friday, August 5th

The Mother Lode Highway Association has arranged for a meeting of its representatives with the state highway commission at Sacramento on Friday, August 5, and Alex Ross, superintendent of the Argonaut mine, at Jackson, has been named as general spokesman.

Following announcement of the plans for the meeting at the Mother Lode Highway Association meeting at Jackson Saturday night, plans were made for efficient handling of the interview by the association and arrangements were arrived at whereby each county represented in the association will have an individual spokesman who will supplement Mr. Ross's statement.

The specific need for road betterment in the area embraced by the association will, however, be voiced by Mr. Ross.

H. E. Dillinger, a director of the association, and Wallace M. Ripley, representing the chamber of commerce, attended the Saturday night meeting.

According to Mr. Dillinger, El Dorado County's needs were explained to the association several months ago and are unchanged from that time. They consist, in the main, of improvement of the Mother Lode highway south from El Dorado to the county line, improvement of the road from Placerville to Sacramento, improvement of the Mother Lode highway north through Coloma and at the Marshall Monument, and improvement of the highway east to the Echo summit.

USING PAPA'S ROD

On March 9, a San Francisco newspaper photographer was in the San Joaquin Valley, picturing conditions in the camps established for migratory workers and one of the pictures he took was of 22-month-old Charles Keeler. The picture was among those published by the newspaper.

Two months later, little Charles took sick and passed away and recently his mother wrote the newspaper saying that the picture of Charles was so good, "it was the last picture and the best," that she wondered if she might have a print of it.

She had few other mementoes of her son, she said. Parents who are migratory workers cannot afford toys. She had an old pop bottle which the babe had used as a nursing bottle and she would cherish that and the picture.

The United Press reported from San Francisco on July 5 that the newspaper had sent the mother two prints of the last picture of her son, and we received the story on that date, but it was among other articles which did not get into the paper.

The other items were dumped into the waste basket the next morning but we don't find it easy to throw away the story of the mother in the migratory workers' camp who holds to her heart an old pop bottle and a newspaper photograph in remembrance of her two-year-old son.

TIAGA ROAD TO YOSEMITE OPEN; ROUGH SPOTS BEING REPAIRED

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK—The Tiaga road across Yosemite National Park is now open according to announcement of Lawrence C. Merriam, Park superintendent. This is several weeks later than usual on account of exceptionally heavy snows and storm damage from last winter. The road is still rough in spots, but is expected to be in good condition in another week. Due to several steep grades and rather sharp turns, the Tiaga road is not recommended for house trailers or large sized buses.

Reconstruction of the Tiaga Road has been under way for several years. From Tiaga Pass westward a 11.6 mile section of modern highway has been completed. Then follows a 34.4 mile stretch of winding, and rather narrow mountain dirt road with several steep grades to Aspen Valley Ranger Station, where it joins a good oil surfaced road to the intersection of the Big Oak Flat Road at Carl Inn. From this point, the route has good oil surface to Yosemite Valley.

The transfer of Pardi's Grocery from Emil Pardi to George K. Fausel became effective Monday morning.

Further than to say that Archie Hicks will have charge of the meat department, Mr. Fausel asked leave to delay any formal statement on the matter for a few days until he has had opportunity to become familiar with the business and devote time to the study of the problems presented.

"Right now we haven't got a name for the store," he declared.

Hitch-Hiking Girls Are Handcuffed

PORT HURON, Mich. (UP)—Two attractive French-Canadian girls passed through here en route to Vancouver, B. C., from Montreal, Que., on a 3,000-mile hike.

Handcuffed together "for protection," the two girls, who said they were twins and orphans, refused to accept rides. They left Montreal May 6, and expect to reach Vancouver by Christmas.

The mayor of Vancouver has the key to the handcuffs, the girls said.

Mrs. Anna Harris and Miss Annette Bryan were among those in town on Thursday from Meyers Station cent share of the cost of the project on that basis.

Informally, school officials pointed out that the need for enlargement of the school facilities had been so pressing that in its desire to "get something started to relieve the situation," the board had called an election on $95,000 in bonds as representing 55 per cent of the cost of the project, and had applied to the PWA for the other 45 per cent, which explains the $77,781 PWA allocation.

Although board members had no official information on the subject it was felt that there will be no objection from the PWA if an amount less than $77,781 allocated is required of the government.

In support of the bond issue which the voters are asked to approve, subject to the board's pledge that only enough of the bonds will be sold to supply 55 per cent of the total cost of the project, members of the board took occasion to point out the need for the facilities which are contemplated in the enlargement program.

Board members declared that a course in physical education is compulsory under state laws and that the present facilities of the school are not sufficient to meet the needs of the number of pupils enrolled.

"The only way a pupil may be excused from physical education is by a doctor's certificate stating that the pupil can not, because of certain conditions of health, take a physical education course," it was stated.

As to the proposed cafeteria, the board stated that the state law requires that adequate lunch room facilities be provided and at the present time the school has no facilities of this nature, although more than 60 per cent of the school enrollment is transported and must either carry its lunch or purchase lunch.

"In bad weather," Principal B. E. Larson said, "some of the girls eat their lunches in the library room. The boys have no place to eat their lunches except in the school corridors."

Members of the board declared that although the project contemplated a "cafeteria," the room designated as a cafeteria will be available for classroom use during the day when it is not being used as a lunch room.

At the present time, when there is no occasion to assemble a group of the pupils of a number larger than can be seated in a class room, the only place for them to meet in in the combination auditorium-gymnasium, and that means a cancellation of the physical education program.

Board members expressed the opinion that the project as adopted by the board represents the most in facilities as represented by the school's need and the requirements by state law, for the least cost to the taxpayers, especially, since 45 per cent of the project will be a gift of federal PWA funds.

BABIES EXCHANGED IN BOSTON HOSPITAL; ERROR FOUND

BOSTON, (U.P.)—Mrs. Kathleen Lisenby, 40, left Boston Hospital carrying her baby boy—just what she and her husband had wanted.

At home, she fed her baby as the nurses had shown her and came to the crucial task of changing his diapers. She undid the safety pin and screamed. This was no boy.

Meanwhile, at the hospital Mrs. Mary O'Brien, 26, called for her 10-day-old daughter. The nurse was alarmed when she found the O'Brien crib empty, but noticed that in the crib adjoining slept the 10-day-old Lisenby baby.

"I was worried at first," Mrs. Lisenby said when she returned to the hospital to exchange babies.
